

Scans 493-507 — individually-worth-posting candidates (HOLD)

33 cards · pulled from the full 15-scan batch · raw/ungraded eBay-comp estimate · NOT posted — pull each and confirm

Batch total: $212 – $475 (typical ~$310)

Two Shohei Ohtani cards (Scans 493 & 499) are the wild cards here. He's the single biggest name in the batch, but the automated pricing data was genuinely unreliable — the same product code returned prices from $12 to $172 depending on query phrasing. Get a real eBay sold-comp on these two specifically before setting a price; everything else below is a more confident reasoned estimate off player standing and card scarcity, not a hard comp.

How to read this: prices are RAW/ungraded July 2026 eBay-comp estimates (asks, sold runs a bit under). Rows marked * had a plausible automated PriceCharting hit; everything else is a reasoned estimate off player standing and card scarcity — verify before finalizing an ask, especially the two Ohtani cards. Several players repeat across scans (Cal Raleigh x3 in this candidate list alone, Jackson Merrill x2, Jose Ramirez x2, Marcelo Mayer x3, Paul Skenes x2, Ohtani x2, Junior Caminero x2) — confirm each is a genuine second physical copy before listing both.
