

Jack and Nate's Room

Send photos after each phase — we iterate from there. 2-second rule throughout.

Trash bag

Wrappers, broken, mystery junk

Donate box

Outgrown, duplicates, unused

Laundry pile

Every item of clothing, no exceptions

eBay pile

Dining room table — good condition, recognizable value

1 Floor sweep

30 min

- ☐ Every piece of clothing on the floor — laundry pile, no smell-testing
- ☐ Wrappers, random paper, obvious trash — trash bag
- ☐ Loose Lego pieces — corral into one bowl, set on the dresser. Do not sort tonight.
- ☐ Anything with eBay potential (figures, games, collectibles in good shape) — dining room table
- ☐ Guitar case — lean against the wall, out of the traffic lane

2 Upper bunk strip

20 min

- ☐ Strip everything off the mattress
- ☐ Tent and outdoor gear bag — out of the bedroom entirely (garage/basement)
- ☐ Sleeping bags — keep 2, the third donates or goes to another closet
- ☐ Extra blankets — keep 2 total, rest go to the hall linen closet
- ☐ Extra pillows — keep 2 total, rest out
- ☐ Nate's stuffies — small group at the pillow end of the upper bunk, 1 blanket laid out. Done.

3 Lower bunk + make both beds

20 min

- ☐ All clothes off the lower bunk — laundry pile
- ☐ Backpacks — 2 daily-use ones hang near the door or on closet hooks. Rest into the closet.
- ☐ Strip and remake the lower bunk — flat, one pillow at the head, blanket. Hotel-style.
- ☐ Tidy the upper bunk the same way.

4 Closet — gut and reload

50 min

- ☐ Reposition the bunk ladder so it sits flush against the bunk frame, not blocking the closet door
- ☐ Pull everything out of the closet
- ☐ Books from the closet top shelf — move to the bookcase
- ☐ Run the 2-second rule on everything that came out
- ☐ Top shelf (hardest reach): tent bag, sleeping bags rolled, extra blankets folded flat
- ☐ Middle shelves: bags and backpacks not in daily use, standing upright. Board games if any.
- ☐ Lower shelves: one per boy for personal overflow
- ☐ Closet floor: completely clear. Shoes in a row if anything.
- ☐ Hooks or back of door: 2 daily-use backpacks hang here

5 Gaming desk + cable management

55 min

- ☐ Clothes off the chair first — laundry pile
- ☐ Sweep everything off the desk surface. Clean slate, then only put back what belongs.
- ☐ Papers — school stuff into backpack, everything else trash
- ☐ Guitar book — goes to the bookcase
- ☐ Bundle all cables with zip ties. Power strip at the back-right of the desk. All cables run behind the monitor and down one desk leg. No cables crossing the front work surface.
- ☐ PS5 stands vertically, white faceplate facing the door. Give it 8-10 inches of clear space around it.
- ☐ Back on the desk: monitor, PS5, controller in its one designated spot, red lantern back corner. Nothing else.
- ☐ Mini fridge — move to the floor on the left side of the desk
- ☐ Lego builds — windowsill behind the desk or onto the bookcase. Off the desk surface.

6 Bookcase sort

30 min

- ☐ Left column with the books — just straighten them upright. Leave it.
- ☐ All other shelves — pull everything off, sort, reload with intention
- ☐ Books from the closet — add them here
- ☐ Bags and junk that was on the shelves — donate or eBay pile
- ☐ One shelf: Lego boxed sets and instruction booklets. One shelf: card overflow if needed. Rest: books or leave empty.

7 Pokemon credenza + under-bed drawer + final sweep

35 min

- ☐ Credenza: binders upright in a row, tins stacked together, figures grouped, plush clustered one end
- ☐ Board games (Connect Four etc.) — closet shelf or eBay pile if complete
- ☐ Wipe the credenza surface
- ☐ Under-bed drawer: dump it, 2-second rule on everything, reload by section
- ☐ Final walk — anything still on the floor finds a home
- ☐ All trash bags and donate boxes go outside the bedroom door tonight
- ☐ Turn on the red LED lantern on the desk

2-second rule: still deciding after 2 seconds = it donates. eBay pile = only if you immediately think "that sells." Keep moving.
